

Matthew E. Garling

Matthew Garling is the Director, Internal Audit for Lawson Products, Inc. (Nasdaq: LAWS).

Matt began his career with Arthur Andersen's external audit practice, and transferred to the Internal Audit/Risk Consulting practice four years later. He continued his internal audit work with Protiviti, serving clients in special projects, investigations, and internal audit projects (startup and existing) before moving to Lawson Products to lead in the transformation of their internal audit department.

Matt is a Certified Public Accountant, as well as a Certified Internal Auditor and Certified Management Accountant, and served various Board terms on the Institute of Internal Auditors Board (Chicago Chapter) including Treasurer, and is a member of NIU's Accountancy Advisory Council.

Matt resides in Chicago with his wife and two young children, where he is the Finance Committee Chair of his local church. In 'spare' moments, Matt enjoys home improvement (on a 99-year-old home) and camping.
